Regarding Dr. MARTIN SUMMERFIELD, Nevark seeks to reverse its position and suggests an interview with SUMMERFIELD would be in order. First, there are no Russian exchanges in his laboratory at present, and he would perhaps be willing to discuss these students in a general way.

For the Bureau's information, casual conversation among SAs at the Trenton Resident Agency recently developed information that SUMMERFIELD telephonically contacted the RA during the summer and asked for assistance. He said he had been contacted by an individual claiming to be a representative of CIA and he wished to verify the authenticity of this person. He was directed to the Contacted the FBI for assistance may or may not be significant, except that in a moment of doubt he turned to the Bureau for assistance.
It has been learned from that SUMMERFILLD exerts considerable influence at the Guggenhoim Laboratory by virtue of his many years there and by his standing in the scientific community. He has written several books and numerous articles for scientific journals. He is articulate, intelligent, and well known all over the world. It was suggested or somebody else in the Soviet scientific community came to his vork through SUMMERFIELD's publications and for that reason and others have worked in his laboratory.

It is noted that whatever contact he has had with the CP took place while he was a student and dates back a generation. Like many in the academic world, SUMMERFIELD took umbrage at being investigated for a security clearance and bristled when approached by the Navy, causing his clearance to be held up until COURTLAND PERKINS interceded and obtained the clearance. PERKINS advised that he has
